Merin is an expert in commercial real estate investment sales, tenant representation, site acquisition, development consulting, and corporate and industrial facilities.

What best defines you as a leader? Leadership is created by demonstrating both a passion for the work at hand and a genuine concern at a personal level for those you are impacting. You lead by example, not by giving directions, and do so in a manner that treats others with the respect you expect.

Personal note: I have an affinity for analog things. I listen to vinyl records, and take photographs with black-and-white film that I develop at home. I am an outdoorsman and, for the last 22 years, have spent six to eight weeks every summer in a cabin in the Adirondack Park.
