PERSONNEL

NAI/Merin Hunter Codman, a West Palm Beach-based CRE brokerage, has hired Matthew Brown as chief operating officer, the firm announced.

Brown will be spearheading acquisitions, brokerage and property management deals. Previously, he served as chief investment officer at New York City firm Dabby Investments. Before that, Brown spent six years at Colliers where he worked as a managing director of investment sales, The Real Deal reports (<https://therealdeal.com/miami/2023/01/09/movers-shakers-nai-merin-hires-matthew-brown-as-coo/>).
